

This was CALM's original logo (must have been grabbed from clip art) and some more recent logos used by state-specific CALM groups. I don't like these logos, but I'm including them just to let you know what the visual reference was in the past. There used to be a tagline, "Take a few minutes to CALM," that made the reference to a clock make some sense. We no longer use that tagline, so it no longer really makes sense to use a clock image. But a member of the group is hoping to have some sort of visual reference to the clock. If it doesn't work, though, don't feel constrained by that.

Take A Few Minutes to
C.A.L.M.

